THE SECOND DAY.

Bright Sunshine Spreads Over Oceans of Mud.

Thousands of Visitors Pass Through the World's Fair Gates, and Flounder in the Mire.

Chicago, May 2—Bright sunshine and a clear sky made the big white world's fair buildings attractive to look upon this morning and at the first opening of the gates there was a thin stream of visitors passing through, which swelled to a steady current of humanity as the forenoon wore on The early comers were considerably jostled and pushed around by the men who were removing the debris and other evidences of yesterday's opening and inside the buildings gangs of laborers were at work unpacking belated exhibits and putting them in place. The roadways, too, were not the most attractive places in the world for the exercise of pedestrianism.

A SEA OF MUD.

Between the sleeping amphitheatre banked against the administration buildings and the grand basin with the giant statue guarding its stoney shore line, lay a placid sea of mud, trodden and stirred up by the feet of the thousands of people who had gathered there yesterday. To the east the graceful curves of the Peristyle showed out distinctly against the clear sky overhanging Lake Michigan and to the south the halls of agriculture and mechanic arts showed their cliffs of entablature and smooth columns, all the whiter for the acres of liquid mud stretching away from them. The great statue of the republic, its feet in the smear of sticky earth, gave strength and splendor to the whole scene.

Under foot was a quagmire of all un cleanliness, above, around and on every side was light, color, prismatic hued flags, warmth and beauty. In this condition of affairs it was not strange that the rolling chairs and electric launches were well patronized. In the former fat men lolled at ease propelled by slim waisted students in natty uniforms and haughtily disregarded the gibes and jeers of harder visitors, who plowed through the mud. On the lagoons the electric launches and naptha boats were filled by parties of ladies and children who viewed the panorama in comfort from the water.

The mud problem will soon be solved however. Director of Works Burnham, who turned up early this morning after the fatigue and excitement of yesterday, says that all the roadways will be asphalted within a week. Then instead of clinging mud there will be a smooth, even surface, which will turn the water into the sewers and with it every bit of mud that may accumulate, for the roadways will be flushed every night by the exposition fire department and will be ship and span every morning.

SCENES IN MIDWAY PLAISANCE.

The forenoon crowd of visitors soon learned that most of the buildings were in the hands of the installation people, and most of the attention was devoted to the wooded island, the battleship and the midway plaisance, where everything is complete. In the latter avenue, which has already been nicknamed "nigger row," because of the dark hue of most of its denizens, everything was in full blast from early morning. The Turks, after prayers in the mosque, began the secular occupation of enticing the nimble dollar from the pockets of the infidel throng.

The dancing girls writhed and pirouetted before gaping crowds of curiosity seekers; the Irish colleens in Lady Aberdeen's village, from which pigs are cruelly excluded, put on their sweetest smiles; the Dahomeyans granted their approval of the sunshiney weather, the South Sea islanders stalked forth and exchanged the greetings of the day with their next door neighbors from the Island of Ceylon, and there was a general air of enjoyment, not unmixed with business pervading the whole thoroughfare.

SIDE SHOW ATTRACTIONS.

Outside the grounds the cable cars unloaded thousands of passengers, many of whom were attracted by the sideshows which line the streets for blocks on every side of the entrances The lemonade and pop-corn men did a thriving business, the dime museums were well patronized and everything showed that the big show with all its millions of attractions and side issues was in full blast.

ESTIMATING YESTERDAY'S CROWD.

Horace Tucker, superintendent of the department of admissions, was an exceedingly busy man this morning and his staff of assistants was equally so. Far into the night they labored to arrive at a correct estimate of the attendance at the opening ceremonies. The exact number of people who passed through the gates of the White City will never be known because thousands of passes were used by exhibitors, their agents, fair employes and newspaper men which were not taken up at the gates, so that the figures as far as they include those people must be approximate. The official figures will be given out later, as Mr. Tucker is still at work on them, but it was ascertained from semi-official sources that the estimate made by the chief of the department late last night will fall somewhat flat in the face of the statement to be made to Treasurer Seeberger today.

The estimate of 600,000 people will be reduced about half, as the count has proceeded far enough to warrant the bearing of an estimated attendance paid and free of [illegible] Mr. Tucker, and others who talked of half a million and more based their figures on the supposition that every stockholder who had tickets good for any day of the six months used them yesterday and that all the persons who held the 25,000 tickets in advance used them. The estimate of 100,000 exhibitors, employes, etc., being on the grounds is also excessive.

Still, 300,000 is a great crowd, considering the adverse conditions, and alongside the biggest day at the Centennial exposition it becomes greater. Some people have a funny idea of a crowd in point of numbers. A friend of an employe in the department of admission was going home with him last night The latter said "How many people do you think were at the fair today?" "Well," said the outsider, "there were 9,000 in last Sunday and today I should think there were 19,000 or 20,000."

THAT PIANO SQUABBLE

Commissioners Massey and Sinclair, President Higginbotham and Director Schwab arrived at the administration building early to attend the meeting of the council, which will endeavor to adjust the trouble in regard to the make of piano to be used by Paderewski in Music hall. The meeting of the council will not be an entirely harmonious one, as Mr. Sinclair has not receded from his determined stand against allowing in the grounds a piano made by a firm which refused to exhibit.

REMOVING THE BLOCKS.

Around administration building the setting given yesterday's scenes was fast being changed. A corps of men was at work removing the chairs from the grand stand where the opening ceremonies took place. They were placed on wagons and carted to a place of storage Two gangs of men were then put to work tearing down the stand and by 10 o'clock it had entirely disappeared, and the lumber was being rapidly taken away.

OPEN AIR CONCERTS.

At 10 o'clock in the morning an orchestra of sixty pieces, under the direction of Adolph Leisgang, gave an open air concert in the stand in the west section of the plaza. A good crowd was in attendance and, muffled in overcoats and wraps, listened to a splendid program

The afternoon open air concert was also well attended and this feature of the world's fair promises to receive much well merited commendation.

VIEWING THE BUILDINGS.

All of the buildings opened to the public yesterday were free of access to day with two or three exceptions. The display in electricity building is yet in such shape that it cannot be inspected with any sense of justice to exhibitors or degree of pleasure to the visitors and the building was closed. It is thought however, that it will be in condition to warrant opening in a few days. A large crowd entered manufacturing, mechanics, horticultural and other buildings, but finding some of the buildings closed, contented themselves by admiring the outside of the structures, statuary and general decorations, until evening.

TOWN ELECTIONS.

The Democrats Carry Nearly Every Indiana City.

Elections were held in a number of the smaller cities and towns of Indiana yesterday. The results as a whole are gratifying to the democracy for they show democratic gains in every quarter. There is nowhere any evidence of that dissatisfaction on which the republicans have been counting so confidently, which was expected to grow out of the federal appointments. While the party lines have not been tightly drawn everywhere, the results as a rule show the democratic organization well maintained and the party still in the ascendant.

The election at New Haven yesterday resulted as follows: J. G. Beugnot, democrat, trustee, Second ward, no opposition; James Cameron, republican, trustee, Third ward, over Henry Koepn, democrat; W. B. Stock, jr., democrat, treasurer, over E. C. Carter, republican; S. J. Stock, democrat, clerk, over E. B. Whitaker, republican. Edward Harper, republican, marshal, over Henry Grabner, democrat. J. B. Beugnot, as trustee, will hold over. The majorities range from two to twenty.

At Avilla the democrats elected their entire ticket as follows: Trustee, First ward, Adam Hess, majority 38, clerk and treasurer, Hamilton Hudson, majority 44, marshal, August Vogeding, majority 31 A fairly heavy vote was polled.

At Auburn the honors were decided, the successful candidates being, Treasurer, Charles Jones, democrat, clerk, U. S. Baut, republican, marshal, Alva Baker, democrat, trustee, Second ward, W. R. Baikstran, republican, trustee, Fifth ward, Ezra Easley, democrat.

Reports from other towns indicate a handsome increased democratic majority.

FLOODED RIVERS.

High Waters Doing Great Damage in Various Sections.

The Mississippi and Ohio Rivers Rapidly Rising—Bridges Washed Away and Ruin Wrought.

St. Louis, May 2—All through the night the river steadily rose at the rate of almost an inch per hour and this morning the swell touches the danger line, thirty-two feet. The body of the stream, however, is a few inches below this and will not reach the danger point until tonight The current is running at the rate of eight miles an hour and the heavy swell is causing great anxiety to owners of warehouses, elevators and stores on the east side of the river.

In the northern part of the city, residents of houses close along the levee are moving their goods and chattels to upper floors. The settlers of the low lands were driven out of their cabins yesterday by water pouring over their floors to the depth of two feet. All along the levee the water is up to the railroad tracks and it gradually forced its way towards the stores that line the front of the city. The storekeepers have taken warning and are moving their goods to places of safety. Experienced and conservative river men predict the flood will exceed that of last year

On the east side of the river from Alton to East St. Louis the flood has already caused heavy damage. At Alton Wood river has overflowed its banks, damaging the Equitable Powder mills, and throwing the bridge of the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy railroad out of line so that it can not be safely used. The "Q" officials are endeavoring to arrange with the Chicago and Alton road for the use of their line for a part of the distance until the bridge can be repaired. The St. Louis, Keokuk and Northwestern road is using the Alton line to Louisiana, Mo., their lines in Illinois south of Old Monroe having been totally destroyed. The water is pouring into the lower floors of the glass works and they will have to be shut down. The vinegar factory was closed yesterday. The water works have had to stop the big direct pressure pump, as the pit is full of water. The Bluff Line railroad has given up all attempts at connection by rail, having been washed out at a dozen places, and covered with landslides and water.

The water is all over the American bottoms below Alton. The driving park is submerged and crops are destroyed. The water is now up to the windows of the Eagle Packet company's office and nearly on a level with the railroad tracks on the levee. At East St. Louis the river has filled Capokia creek and it is now running flush with the sewers. The race track is but a few feet above water. Many stables have had to be abandoned on account of the high tide. In the territory surrounding East St Louis the low lands are flooded and already communication with several towns is cutoff The levee between East St. Louis and East Carondelet, erected by the farmers to protect them from the back waters of Capokia creek is in danger and all day yesterday and throughout the night farmers by the scores were at work strengthening it If it gives way the farms will be ruined.

Reports received from points south of here show that all the rivers in southern Missouri, Arkansas, southern Illinois, Kentucky and Tennessee are on the rampage, and pouring heavy volumes of water into the Mississippi. At Fort Smith, Ark., traffic on the 'Frisco road south of that city is suspended. At one place 400 feet of trestle has been washed away and it is hard to tell when traffic will be resumed. Van Buren, Ark., reports not a train running on the Santa Fe road since last Saturday. The bridges have been washed away and several embankments washed out. At Pine Bluff, Ark., the river is within four feet of last year's high water mark, and is steadily rising.

St. Marys, Ohio, May 2—The large stock warehouse of Crane & McMahon's wheel works collapsed yesterday afternoon The foundations were undermined by high water The building had just been completed Loss, $5,000.

Pembina, N. D., May 2—The flood is spreading all over the streets of the town and the river is still rising. In South Pembina people generally have left their homes. They go about in boats, getting in and out of their houses through the windows Two St. Paul travelling men came near being drowned Saturday while crossing over in a boat from St Vincent

St. Vincent, Minn., May 2—The village is entirely under water and several buildings have been totally wrecked by floating ice. The flood is much higher than it was in 1882, and is much more dangerous, as the ice had all run out of the river. People in parts of the town are leaving their homes Emerson, Manitoba, three miles distant, is also submerged and all the stores in town have more or less water in them The Red river is now running through the lowlands east of St Vincent and Emerson, leaving the two towns on an island

Cincinnati, Ohio, May 2—The rainy and cold weather, which for three weeks has wholly stopped all plowing and planting in Ohio, is culminating in a disastrous flood. Here over two inches of rain has fallen within twenty-four hours, and the Ohio river is leaping up at the rate of four inches an hour.

Despatches from Waynesburg say that the whole of Southwestern Ohio is flooded and wheat ruined, while other crops are so delayed that the yield must be small Dayton reports the Miami river and tributaries at flood height and rising two inches an hour Nearly an inch and a half of rain fell at the headwaters of the Scioto river, and will add to the swollen stream Zanesville reports the railroad tracks submerged, and the Muskegum river is rising a foot an hour.

Steubenville, Ohio, May 2—The awful possibility of a scene of lives being lost in a flood, which covers 200 houses in the southwestern part of the city, is causing great excitement here The river rose last evening with incredible rapidity and before people knew it they were hemmed in by the waters The police force and citizens are rescuing the people in boats and on horses. The electric street car power house is flooded and traffic is stopped

Akron, Ill., May 2—The flood situation here grows graver every hour The river has risen steadily since Sunday at the rate of more than half an inch per hour, and registered last evening twenty-six feet, lacking but four and three-fourths feet of the record of last May. Some of the lowland farmers are being moved by the ferry to this shore and others are waiting with still a hope that the tide will turn in time to save them. The flood here is worse than elsewhere, because it represents the full force of three great rivers. Both the Missouri and Illinois river are pouring out fast. The St Louis, Chicago and St. Paul railroad tracks were submerged yesterday.

THE CUBAN WAR.

The Revolutionists' Flag Floats Over Gibara.

The Spaniards Are Careless and Allow the Enemy to Slip in Men and Munitions of War.

Key West, Fla., May 2—The schooner Lillie arrived here Monday from Gibara, Cuba, and reports the Cuban flag floating over the fortress The revolutionists number one hundred and are in possession of the city. A schooner arrived here from Sandomingo on April 20th with men and ammunition for the revolutionist army. Expeditions are being fitted out in Jamaica and San Domingo for the southern provinces. Spanish papers endeavor to suppress the magnitude of the revolution One Havana paper admits that 1,500 men are in the revolutionary army in the province of Vulta Abajo, and 2,000 in Santiago. A council of war was called by the captain general yesterday. Manifestos were issued promising a pardon to all who will lay down their arms within ten days The Spanish troops are moving actively enough to indicate that the Spanish government believes that strong measures will be necessary to suppress the uprising The troops which left Havana for Puerto Principe received three months pay in advance. Cubans here believe that every province will join in the revolt in a few weeks. The federal officials here are using every precaution to prevent any expedition leaving here. The cutter McLane is the only government vessel here at present.

THE DAY'S DEATHS.

Parents Too Poor to Bury Their Dead Child.

Largely Attended Funeral of the Late Christian Haffner—Funeral of David Henderson.

For several weeks past Mr. and Mrs Michael Rothgeb, of Cherubusco, have been in the city living at the residence of Fred Frisby, near the corner of St. Mary's avenue and Spring street, in Bloomingdale. They were very poor and Sunday, when their nine-months-old baby died the unfortunate family had no money to pay an undertaker to bury it. The child was allowed to remain lying upon the bed until yesterday evening when it was discovered by Humane Agent Schlaudroff Decomposition had already set in. The humane agent went to the house, saw the corpse, heard the story of the poor people and notified Schumann & Klecha to prepare the body for burial. The county paid the expenses of the funeral which was held today.

Last evening occurred the death of Mrs. John Curtall, of puerperal fever About ten days ago a child was born to her while the poor woman was suffering with measles The little one died a short time afterwards and now the mother has gone to join the little one. Mr. and Mrs. Curtall's lives were very romantic About two years ago he came to this city from California to meet his bride, who had come all the way from England to wed the man she loved. Mr. Curtall was a machinist in the Pittsburg shops The funeral will be held at 4 o'clock tomorrow afternoon, from the Trinity Episcopal church Rev. Seabrease officiating

The funeral of the late Christian Haffner was held at 2 o'clock today, from the residence, No. 30 Madison street. It was largely attended.

The funeral of David S. Henderson occurred this afternoon at 2 30 from the residence of W. H. Hoham, 12 Highland street Mr Henderson was an old soldier and died at the old soldiers' home, Marion. The remains were brought here yesterday at 1 0 P. M.

Catharine, the sixteen-year old daughter of Thomas Gorman died yesterday afternoon in Lake township, of lung trouble. The funeral will be held tomorrow from the Catholic church in Arcola

Mrs. Daniel Searle and daughter, Henrietta, are both ill.

DESERTED BY HER LOVER

Miss Berghold Suicides In a Hotel at Chicago.

Tired of Home Life She Went Out Into the World to Earn Her Own Living and Failed.

New York, May 2—The mystery surrounding the death of Miss Rebecca Berghold in the Southern hotel, at Chicago, was cleared up last night by the confession of William Alexander Cornell, the man who Captain Berghold has indicated as the possible betrayer of his daughter. Cornell is a lawyer, living at 17 East One hundred and fifteenth street, is thirty-five years old, married, and has one child five months old.

He was seen by a reporter yesterday afternoon and denied that he had seen Miss Berghold in two years or that he had been out of the city within a month. Later, however, after seeing the statement of Captain Berghold, he made what he claimed was a full and truthful statement of his relations with Miss Berghold He admitted having gone to Chicago with her and said that he was he who registered at the Southern as "Mr Alexander."

He said that he met Miss Berghold twelve years ago. He had been attending the college of the city of New York with a son of the captain, and became acquainted, through him, with the family. He became attached to Eliza, the youngest daughter, and paid her so much attention that it became reported that they were engaged to be married. Then he tired of her and paid attention to Rebecca This he says caused Eliza to become his enemy and her sister's.

Three years ago he ceased to visit Rebecca and two years ago she called at his office and said she was not living happily at home Her sisters were at work and they often taunted her with being dependent upon her father. She said she wished to learn stenography and type writing and asked him to find her a position. He secured several places for her, but she could not keep them long. She often appeared to be despondent and threatened to commit suicide. She said she was tired of home life. Afterward she wrote that although she occupied the same room and the same bed with her sister, they had not spoken for several months.

On April 12 she wrote him that she had left home and was stopping at the Cosmopolitan hotel, and asked him to call upon her. She had registered as Mrs. Alexander. She said she was determined to make her own living He advised her to go home "Two days afterwards," said Cornell, "on April 14, she came into my office in the Bennett building We went out and had lunch together. Then we had a talk. She was in tears. 'I can't go home,' she said, 'and I cannot go away alone.' The end of it was that I gave in and agreed to escort her to Chicago. I did have a little business there, but I had not intended to go so soon. I took her to Chicago and registered with her at the Southern hotel as man and wife. For two or three days she went around some looking for a boarding place, and I stayed a little longer than I intended to. I had caught cold and had neuralgia. Then she begged me to remain with her At first I declined, but she insisted so firmly that I finally forgot my duty and stayed. We lived together until Thursday, April 27, without my having the courage to say that I must leave her. When I did say so it made her despondent. She cried and I began to grow weak again, but when I thought of my wife and baby, and the baby would be five months old on the next day, the 28th, it made me firm in my resolve. I would return to my duty I told her this. She grew more or less angry, disappointed and despondent. This was on Friday. I packed up my few things in a satchel and left her that night. Before I went away in the afternoon I went to the hotel office to pay our bill. 'If you will go,' she said, 'I wish you would tell them in the office that you are going away for a couple of days or so. It will look better and give me a little time to find a room.' I did so I left her a little before 10 o'clock that night She was sitting in a rocking chair. There was a chambermaid in the hall as I went out. I took a cable car to Adams street and walked to Canal street I must have got to the Pennsylvania railroad depot about 11 o'clock, for I was asleep when the train pulled out at 11.30 I came right through, except that I changed cars at Pittsburg. I saved a little time by that. I got to Jersey City about 8 o'clock on Sunday morning. I can't understand what could have made her, and here he paused and refused to finish the sentence until one of the reporters asked, 'Kill herself?' when he said hastily, 'yes' He did not see a paper until Sunday afternoon,' he went on, 'and then the story about her was the last thing I saw. A year or more ago she talked of suicide

He was asked about the truth of the statement that Capt Berghold had assisted him. He said he never received a dollar's worth of help from Capt. Berghold.

In spite of many other attractions last evening the Empire Bazar which is being held in Grand Masonic hall was attended by a large crowd. The program for this evening will be specially entertaining and many pretty [illegible]

A SHOOTING AFFAIR.

Henry Beaker Fires a Revolver In Dratt's Saloon.

He Started Out to Kill Somebody and Landed in the Station—Martin Dratt's Old Pistol.

A mysterious shooting affray took place yesterday afternoon, about 4 o'clock, in John Dratt's saloon, No 72 Barr street

A few minutes before the shooting occurred a young man named Heffelfinger and a girl named Lee McCulloch were in the rear of A. V. Martin's waiting room, on the southeast corner of Columbia and Barr streets They were sitting at a small table drinking Heffelfinger had a six chambered Smith & Wesson revolver of an old pattern in his hip pocket The girl, seeing the revolver, jerked it from her companion's pocket and laid it down upon the table, saying as she did so "Is that good for a drink?" Just at that moment a young German, who was very drunk and who had been loitering about the saloon, staggered up to the table and snatched the pistol. Heffelfinger made a dash after the impudent fellow, but the German stepped back and pointed the revolver in his face He backed out of the saloon and ran across the street to Louis Banet's place, No 72 Columbia street. Here he flourished the gun about in a reckless manner, and going out the back door, staggered down Barr street to John Dratt's saloon. About the bar in this saloon were a number of men shaking dice The drunken German went up to them and suddenly drawing the pistol from his pocket pointed it directly at the heart of a man named Hollis Gillett The latter sprang to one side and threatened to slap the foolish foreigner if he did not pocket his weapon. This the fellow did, but a few moments later, Joe Gordon, a countryman, entered and the German again pulled his gun and began to flourish it in a reckless manner. Suddenly the sharp report of a pistol rang out and a bullet went crashing into the wall just above Dratt's head. The ball glanced, and, striking an opposite wall, fell to the floor.

Just how the pistol came to be fired is a mystery. Some state that it was purely accidental, and others that Gordon and the German were quarrelling At any rate, it was a close call for Dratt, as the bullet came within a few inches of striking him in the head. The German, after firing the shot, hastened out of the saloon and ran up to Banet's, where the bartender took the revolver and put it into the cash drawer. Officer John Trautman heard of the racket and hastened over to Barr street where he secured the revolver and started out to try and find the man who had fired the shot. Lieutenant Lapp also heard of the trouble, and getting a description of the drunken fellow, managed to nab him at the corner of Main and Barr streets, and marched him off to the station. Here the prisoner gave his name as Henry Beaker and said that he had only been in this county a few weeks. On his person was a knife which was open and which cut the lieutenant's finger when he took it from his pocket. The pistol was said to have once been the property of the desperado Martin Kuhns, who gave it to Heffelfinger.

This morning Beaker was called up before Mayor Zollinger upon a charge of drunkenness. He could not speak a word of English and Marshal Franke acted as interpreter, being an expert in low Dutch dialects. Beaker said that Heffelfinger and the girl had tried to make him treat and upon his refusal to do so the latter pulled the gun and threatened to shoot. Upon this Beaker claims that he grabbed the gun and stuck it in his pocket There seems to be no doubt but that he was dangerously drunk as the long bladed knife which he had open in his pocket was as sharp as a razor. The mayor fined him $1 and costs. Lieutenant Lapp was this morning informed that the pistol is the identical one with which Kuhns shot Jack Kennelly. Lapp will keep it as a relic

A HOOSIER ROMANCE.

Strange Story of a Woman Whose Son Wants Her First Husband's Money.

A lawsuit instituted in the Cass circuit court of Kokomo, Saturday, developed an unexpected romance of more than passing interest. A year ago John Carey was killed by a Panhandle engine, near Logansport, having lived in the vicinity several years, and called himself an unmarried man A day or two ago a man giving his name as John Carey, jr., of Elwood, appeared on the scene and began suit to obtain possession of the dead man's property, about $1,200, claiming to be a son of the deceased. A Mrs. Smith, of Elwood, also came on, declaring herself the wife of Carey. She told the following remarkable story

"In 1811 we were married in Ireland John and I eloped when I was but thirteen years old. After three children were born to us John deserted me and came to the United States. Three years later I followed with the children, hoping to find him. I finally located him at Connersville, Ind We lived together a short time and he again disappeared. When the war broke out John enlisted and served to the end of the conflict. During the war he was reported among the killed and I married another man, Mr Smith, my present husband. Later, on learning that my first husband was alive and working in a stone quarry near Logansport, I went there to ascertain the truth of the report"

The woman walked out to the quarry, and, secreting herself from view of the workmen, recognized the man as her husband. Fearing she she would be arrested for bigamy, the woman kept the secret until now She told her son, and he at once brought suit for the possession of the dead man's property A Mrs. Morgan, with whom the old gentleman lived for several years also lays claim to the estate

ATTEMPTED ABDUCTION.

Two Strangers Try to Carry off the Kelso Child.

Another Chapter to the Now Famous Baby Case—The Men Foiled in Their Designs

A bold but ineffectual attempt was made about 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon to abduct the now famous Kelso baby.

The attempt was made by two strange men, one of whom is supposed to be the father of the child, and who has been known to have been about the city for several days past. It will be remembered that the little one has been in charge of Mr. and Mrs. David Brown, who reside at No 139 Superior street. The child is a bright, intelligent little baby, and Mr. and Mrs Brown, who are estimable people, have taken a great liking to the little waif At the hour mentioned two strange men called at the Brown residence and knocked at the front door. Mrs Whitney, a married daughter, answered the knock. One of the men spoke up and said, "We have heard so much about the little child which you have, that we wanted to see it" Mrs Whitney said she would ask her mother and invited the two strangers into the front room rather reluctantly The child was in a room adjoining, fast asleep. Mrs Whitney was very suspicious and kept a close watch upon the two strangers. However, she was compelled to go into another part of the house to tell Mrs. Brown and during her absence the two men no doubt tried to find the location of the little one, for when the two ladies entered the room somewhat unexpectedly the men were noticed to be greatly confused and uneasy Mrs. Brown said that she had no objection to them seeing the baby and brought it into the parlor The elder of the two men went up to the little one, and taking it into his arms, fondled and caressed it in a very paternal manner. He seemed greatly pleased to see the baby. The two ladies questioned the stranger closely and asked him if he was the father. To this question the man did not at once make an answer. He bent his head and upon his looking up again the two ladies saw that there were great tears streaming down his cheeks. He denied, however, that he was the parent.

In a few moments the two men left, but not until they had taken a careful look at the house and surroundings. As soon as they had departed Mrs. Whitney rushed out and notified an officer. Both ladies were greatly alarmed and are positive that one of the strangers is the father of the child. They say that the older of the two men greatly resembles the baby in features. The man who took such an unusual interest in the child is dark complexioned and heavy set. Both were fairly well dressed and are beyond a doubt strangers in Fort Wayne.

Dr. Thayer was seen this morning and stated that Tim Renek, whom he says is the baby's father, has been in the city for the past two or three days. Just why he wants to get possession of the waif is a mystery. The Browns will make a vigorous fight to retain possession of the infant.

FORT WAYNE is quite a convention city. Two state gatherings meet here this week.

IT is thought that Mr. Joseph A. M. Storm, of this city, will be appointed by the president as one of the consulates in Germany.

APRIL closed with a credit of twenty-six rainy days out of thirty and a net yield of 3 6 inches of rain. More rain fell last month than in any corresponding period in northern Indiana during the last twenty-six years.

WE are truly living in a fast age. Yesterday THE EVENING SENTINEL, with its excellent telegraphic facilities, had a full report of the proceedings of the opening of the world's fair at Chicago on the streets of Fort Wayne within forty minutes after the close of the exercises.

IT is understood in New York that Mr. Elliott F. Shepard will retain control of the Mail and Express property in the interest of her son, whom Colonel Shepard desired to succeed him in the ownership of the paper. Should the young man on attaining his majority not desire to go into the business the property will then be sold.

THE convention of literary clubs which assembles in this city will be of interest to all. There seems to be in the minds of many an erroneous idea that it is confined to women's clubs. That is a mistake. Many of the clubs belonging to the Indiana union include men in their membership, and the program of the convention this week contains the names of a number of men from different parts of the state who will read papers or take part in discussions.

THE railroad rates to Chicago during the world's fair are entirely too high. The railroad companies are making a great mistake in keeping them up to their present high figures. The price agreed on by the different companies from this city to Chicago and return is $7 25, which is practically no reduction at all. The price for a round trip ticket ought not to be more than $3 or $3.50 at the farthest. The railroad companies would find it more profitable to themselves to place the price at a figure which all classes could reach.

THERE are more than 1,000,000 Germans in the chief cities of the United States. They are most numerous in New York and Brooklyn and in the cities of the west. They are least numerous in Boston and Washington, in these two cities, and in Philadelphia and San Francisco the Irish outnumber the Germans. In New York, Chicago, Brooklyn, St. Louis Baltimore, Cincinnati, Cleveland, Buffalo, New Orleans, Pittsburg, Detroit and Milwaukee, the Germans outnumber the Irish. There are 3,500 natives of Ireland to 55,000 Germans in Milwaukee. In Boston there are 19,000 Germans to 11,000 Irish.

A Freak Air Experiment.

An interesting experiment that proves the value of fresh air in winter, even for very young and delicate children, was tried a month ago in a well-known babies hospital. All the sickly babies that were suffering from chronic indigestion and lack of nutrition, and who would not improve in spite of good food, perfectly ventilated rooms, and careful bathing, were taken to the top ward of the hospital, where all the windows were open wide, wrapped as for the street, and put in their perambulators. They were kept in this room from two to four hours daily and soon showed a marked improvement. Their cheeks became rosy, they gained in weight and appetite, and would often fall asleep and remain so during the whole time they were in the air. Very delicate children had bags of hot water placed at their feet. It is recorded in the account of this experiment that not one child took cold as a result of it.

THE tenth annual report of the bureau of statistics of labor in New York state contains a great deal of original and interesting information. The wages of farm laborers show a steady decline from 1866 to 1879, when a slight advance was made. In the city of New York from 1880 to 1890 the number of employes increased 48.9 per cent, but the amount paid for labor 127.80 per cent, while the average earnings of workmen increased 52.91 per cent. The compete prohibition of child labor is recommended and a better regulation of female labor. The total number of strikes in 1892 were 1,749, 360 of which were unsuccessful. The total number of persons involved in them was over twenty five thousand.

IT may not be generally known, even to habitual students, that St. Paul is accounted the patron saint of upholsterers. Such is the fact in England. His credentials are probably supplied by Acts xviii., 3. "He came in to Aquila and Priscilla at Corinth, and because he was of the same craft he abode with them and wrought, for by their occupation they were tentmakers." The festival of the apostle of the Gentiles occurs on January 25, and it is professionally commemorated by the upholsterers of England, who hold a banquet in the evening, and after the usual toast and patriotic toasts have been duly honored the craft drink to the memory of St. Paul.

MARRIAGE as a swindle was lately turned to profitable account by a couple in Indian territory. They go to a minister, employ his services to unite them in the bonds of matrimony; the man then tenders a twenty-dollar bill and asks the clergyman to take out five dollars and give him the change. The twenty-dollar bill is a counterfeit. Then they go until they find another unsuspecting clergyman and repeat the process. The game has worked so well that this interesting pair have accumulated a surplus. There is no question of the validity of their marriage.

THE Smithsonian institution has printed a paper by Dr. J. F. Snyder describing an urn containing incinerated human bones which was dug out of an ancient mound in Georgia. The urn, or vase, is nearly conical, eleven and one-half inches high, and was covered by an inverted bell-shaped vessel fifteen and three quarter inches in height. The ashes nearly half filled the vase, and mingled with them were calcined human teeth and fragments of bones, lying on the surface of these remains were a quantity of wampum and several small pearls that had been pierced for stringing.

VEGETARIANISM in the United States does not discard the use of meat diet merely because it is unnecessary or harmful, but also because of the cruelty inflicted on animals by their wholesale slaughter in the catering to the meat-eating habit. This principle is followed logically to its end, and shoes made entirely of felt are largely coming into use among vegetarians. Not only they claim does the use of leather necessitate the killing of animals but it is injurious as a covering for any part of the body, while woolen or felt is a natural and beneficial protection.

ONE of our leading woman suffragists is of the opinion that we are threatened with an excess of married women. This may prove to be the case, as a reaction from the excessive matrimony of leap year. Yet the promised influx of titled foreigners, who will be unable to resist the combined attractions of the world's fair and of New York's hospitality, may upset all calculations as to the future of the matrimonial market. Especially in what the Arizona press calls "a perfect glut of weddings."

AN enterprising dealer in curiosities asked for space at the world's fair to exhibit an old woman, one half of whose face was to be smooth and with her prevation and the rest to be left with its natural wrinkles, at the end of the fair, when he was smooth out the other half in the presence of the multitude.

A COMPANY in Texas (Oregon?) seems to have come fun with a temperance idea. It ordered him to dance, but it would only currently from what he expected. The stranger not only refused, but knocked the cowboy down, took his gun away from him, and then made him dance until he fainted from exhaustion.

A HOWARD county (Mo.) man refused to own her calf until a big dog was brought into the inclosure, when she flew to its relief and mother and child have since been reconciled. The cow's conduct was very like that of some human beings, who sometimes need a pistol to make them perform their parental duties.

THE Mexican government virtually controls elections in that country. A man awoke one morning to find on his desk an official notice of his election to office, that being his first intimation that his name was mentioned as a candidate. The government had nominated and elected him.

TWELVE thousand barrels of whisky exploded and burned causing a fire at Louisville, Ky., a few days ago. The losses be up to estimate that many persons were interested by breathing them.

OUR OWN STATE.

A Prominent Physician in Trouble—A Young Wife on Trial for Murder.

The hail storm which swept over Lafayette was the severest in destructive qualities ever experienced in that city. Thousands of panes of glass were broken, scarcely a house escaping without more or less damage.

Dr. W. F. Camp, a well known physician of Lynnville, is reported a fugitive. He has been drinking and gambling, and it is alleged that he committed forgery. A note for $300 held by the Lynnville Building and Loan association, with Jacob Tyring as indorser, is claimed to be fraudulent. Mr Tyring is Dr. Camp's father-in-law.

Harrison Reed, a farmer of Cass county, was betrothed to Addy in the same county, and, while on the way to play his part in the marriage ceremony, he was capsized as a juror and detained at Logansport. Reed pleaded with Judge McConnell to be released, explaining the imperative nature of the business calling him elsewhere, but the court was obdurate. After three days' service as a juror, he started for the house of his bride, but found the doors closed upon him, neither would the lady accept his explanations. Reed proposes to revenge himself by suing Judge McConnell for damages.

Mrs Belle C. Payne, a young married woman, is on trial at Fowler charged with attempting to kill her husband. She was shot in the breast while asleep in his room late at night. Circumstantial evidence points to the guilt of the woman, as she was alone with her husband at the time, and there is no evidence that the house had been entered from the outside. Mr Payne was among the first witnesses called, but the shooting is a mystery to him. He did not see how any one could have entered from the outside without awakening him, still he know nothing of the affair until he was aroused by a bullet in his breast. Mr. and Mrs Payne lived pleasantly together so far as known, still gossip credited the wife with many impudences, and as being dissatisfied with her lot. The trial will occupy the greater part of the present week.

A WASHINGTON LETTER.

One Firm in Buffalo Sends More Money to the Bicycle Post-office than all the Banks and Newspapers combined.

A Washington (D. C.) letter says, that the postoffice authorities at Washington report that one firm in Buffalo—the World's Dispensary Medical Association, spends annually one hundred thousand dollars—$100,000—in stamps alone, in carrying on their extensive quack advertising business. This is more than all the banks of Washington or Buffalo combined spend for postage.

Here's a firm which has grown, step by step, through many years of patient advertising for this wonderful remedy, has been there they have faith in what they sell, as much faith as the buyers have in temple or wife, they don't want your money.

For many years they have been selling Dr. Pierce's remedies—the Dr. Pierce Golden Medical Discovery, for vanquishing and invigorating the liver and purifying the blood, the other, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, the hope of weakly women-hood, and they've been sold for years—sold by the million—for they are sold under a positive guarantee of benefiting or curing, or your money will be refunded.

Texas Fever Experience.

C. D. Fredricks, the well known photographer, 770 Broadway, New York, says:

"I have been using ALLCOCK'S POROUS PLASTERS for 20 years, and found them one of the best of family medicines. Briefly summing up my experience, I say that when placed on the small of the back ALLCOCK'S PLASTERS fill the body with nervous energy, and thus cure fatigue, brain exhaustion, debility and kidney difficulties. For women and children I have found them invaluable. They never irritate the skin or cause the slightest pain, but cure sore throat, coughs colds pains in side, back or chest, indigestion and bowel complaints."

MARIE GREENWOOD.

She is the Stellar Attraction of the Greenwood Opera Company.

The favorite Southern prima donna is the attraction of the opera company bearing her name, on a tour in the South, and will be the summer attraction at the Grand Opera House, New Orleans. She is equally at home in comic or grand opera, and is the fortunate possessor of a phenomenal soprano voice of rare strength and purity. The company is in the hands of well known professional and business men, Mr. Roland G. Pray, Harry M. Clark and William P. Guiberson having control of Miss Greenwood's services for a long term.

THE GROWTH OF AN OYSTER

Each Overlapping Layer of Shell Means a Year of Age.

The oyster at the commencement of its career is so small that 2,000,0 0 would only occupy a square inch. In six months each individual oyster is large enough to cover half a crown, and in twelve months a crown piece. The oyster is its own architect, and the shell grows as the fish inside grows, being never to small.

It also bears its age upon its back, and it is as easy to tell the age of an oyster by looking at its shell as it is that of horses by looking at their teeth. Everyone who has handled an oyster shell must have noticed the successive layers overlapping each other. These are technically termed shots, and each one marks a year's growth so that by counting them the age of the oyster can be determined.

Up to the time of its maturity—that is, when four years of age—the shots are regular and successive, but after that time they become irregular and are piled one upon another, so that the shell becomes bulky and thickened. Fossil oysters are been seen of which each shell was nine inches thick, whence they may be guessed to be more than 900 years old.

One to two million oysters are produced from a single parent, and their scarcity is accounted for by the fact that man is not the only oyster-eating animal. The starfish loves the oyster and preys upon it unceasingly. A variety of whelk is also very fond of young oysters, to get at which he bores right through the shell and sucks the fish up through the hole thus made.

NATURAL GAS FIRE.

A revolution in Gas Grate Fires More heat can be had with a No. 3 Mixer than any other style of burner with a No 5 Mixer.

You can turn out your furnaces and have all the heat you want from your grates, and have better ventilation in your rooms.

H. J. Ash has taken the agency for a grate burner that will accomplish the above results, besides he will so model your grate with polished brass sides and fender, and make a beautiful grate fire for a few dollars.

DOLLS TO ILLUSTRATE SURGERY.

The Bloomsbury Homeopathic hospital of London will have a singular exhibit at the fair. It is a collection of dolls to illustrate the advantages of various surgical appliances. They are suffering from broken bones and all sorts of injuries, and are fitted with splints and other appliances and placed in such attitudes as actual patients would be made to assume.

Colored People's Jubilee at Chicago.

Aug. 25 is set apart as the festival of the colored people, or, as they themselves seem to prefer to call it, Afro American jubilee day. The celebration is to be given in Music hall on the fair grounds. Its object is to show the progress which the colored race has made in speech and song in America, and to this end the brightest representatives of the colored people in oratory and music will be brought together. The orators of the day will endeavor to show the exact standing of the negro in this country, his advancement in some directions, and his lack of progress in others, and his disabilities as a citizen. There are to be 2,500 colored children in the choruses, and all the prominent colored singers of the country have been invited.

The Fair Grounds at Night.

More than 1,250,000 candle power will be the limit of electric light at the Columbian exposition. The study of that system which shall turn night into day for the many six months of the present year is one of the most interesting subjects connected with the World's fair. So complete and extensive are the arrangements that the simple view of the exposition ground at night, regardless of every feature presented in exhibits, will be well worth a journey to see.

Yesterday's Indianapolis Journal contained the following: "A gentleman who is well informed as regards the affairs of the Pennsylvania company says that the management is about to adopt a new policy in the selection and promotion of men to be superintendents. In the past they have been promoted almost entirely from the position of engineers of maintenance of way, but the business of its various lines has increased so largely that the company finds men of this kind are unable to cope successfully with the immense increase of business, and that it needs men well up in transportation matters for such position. The transfer of C. R. Walton to the important Chicago division is a move in the above direction. He was formerly chief train dispatches on the Pittsburg, Fort Wayne and Chicago division at Fort Wayne and an unusually competent dispatcher. An impression exists that further changes in this direction are under contemplation and that hereafter positions will be filled by the promoting of men from their respective departments rather than, as has been the case in the past, selecting superintendents from among the engineers of maintenance of way."

Adjournment.

The committee having the matter in charge desire THE SENTINEL to say that the men are especially invited to attend the meetings. They also wish it distinctly understood that the meetings are open to the public, whether club members or not, and it will please them if the Second Presbyterian church, where the convention meets, is filled to overflowing. The reception to delegates from abroad on Wednesday evening is the only entertainment in connection with the convention that is not public. That, for obvious reasons, is confined to club members.

Cleaning House.

Hard work or easy work, just as you choose. If you find it hard work, it's because you won't use Pearline. You'd rather waste your time and your strength with that absurd rubbing and scrubbing. Of course it's hard—that's why Pearline was invented—that's why Pearline is a household word. You don't know how easy it can be, until you let Pearline do the work. Then house-cleaning slips right along. It is over before you know it.

Send it Back — If peddlers and some unscrupulous grocers will tell you "this is as good as" or "the same as Pearline," IT'S FALSE—Pearline is never peddled, and if your grocer sends you something in place of Pearline, it is honest—send it back. 339 JAMES PYLE, New York.

Sharp gave him a kick which landed him in the gutter. The thief escaped. He was a short, heavy set man.

The condition of Winfield P. McAfee, whose sad illness was mentioned in last night's SENTINEL, is today unchanged. Yesterday Drs. Stemen, Easden and Bowell held a consultation and were somewhat puzzled to decide just what ailed him. The brotherhood men have been noble in their attention to Mr. McAfee and have never left him unattended since they were first notified. The sick man complains of violent pains in the head and has periodical spells of unconsciousness.

The SENTINEL mentioned the loss of the will of the late T. Marsh Coombs. The missing document has, however, been found. Edward Coombs made a thorough search of his father's safe at the store and succeeded in turning up a portion of the missing papers. The will was found together with four insurance policies. Three policies in favor of Edward Coombs—one for $5,000 and another for $15,000 and a third for $5,000. The fourth policy was for $2,000 in favor of Mr. Coombs, mother of the deceased.
